Hartman Hard Pressed
Ingo Hartman won over R. L. James in the third round by a score of 2-7, pitting his all-round court game against the steady driving and clever placing of his opponent. After gaining a lead of 5-2 on games and 40-15 on points in the first set Hartman lost control of his overhead game for a period, and James almost took the set, bringing the games to deuce at 5-all bringing the games to deuce at 5 all and then going into the lead at 7-6 He accomplished this by the cleverest kind of side line driving, catching Hartman wide of position as the latter
